

CURRICULUAM VITAE

Personal Biography

I belong to Mukkuva community-a traditional fishing community- in South India and I grew up on a coastal region in Thiruvananthapuram, Kerala. Most of my childhood memories and experiences are tied with the sea and the coastal life. Since my schooling, I have very keen interest in writing on my community life and livelihood experiences of my forefathers. This vision took me to being part of various social activities within the community and others around Kerala. Reading and writing are my passions. I gradually developed my interests and motivations continuing in the field of Journalism and Mass communication and now I think this is my destiny. I am committed to bring fishermen livelihood issues and coastal communities sustainable living practices into the mainstream discourse through my media .activities
